League Assembly Refuses To Amend Covenant

$60,000,000 Loan To Aid Farmers Is Planned

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 2.—Immediate loans of $60,000,000 from government funds to aid farmers in the face of falling prices of their products is proposed by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, Nebraska, in a bill drawn today after a conference with Governor Harding, of the federal reserve board. Senator Hitchcock plans to present the measure when congress meets next week.

The money which Senator Hitchcock would have advanced to the farmers is the government's share in profits of the federal reserve banks payable next month and which under the law would be used to increase gold reserves or to purchase liberty bonds.

Loans would be made through the federal land banks on either mortgage or warehouse receipts with agricultural products or live stock as security. Loans on grain would be limited to six months and those on live stock to one year.

"This would be only a drop in the bucket toward meeting the enormous needs of agriculturalists," said Senator Hitchcock, "but it would have a good effect beyond the actual amount of money made available."

Senator Hitchcock indicated that President-elect Harding was favorably inclined toward the plan.

Extra Guard Protects British King And Palace

The recent burning of the docks at Liverpool by persons believed to be in sympathy with Ireland's fight for freedom and other plots uncovered in England by Scotland Yard men, have led British authorities to place an extra guard about Buckingham palace, where the royal family resides, and increase the personal guards of the king. Police are now tracing rumors of a wholesale plan of Irish sympathizers to not only destroy the palace but to bomb the homes of British soldiers now on duty in Ireland.

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES TO MEET TO CONSIDER RELIEF MEASURES FOR AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Agricultural committees of the senate and house will meet in joint session this afternoon to consider possible relief measures for the agricultural situation. The meeting is in response to an invitation from the senate members.

Revel of the war finance corporation, further extension of credits to farmers, placing of tariff on wheat imports, utilization of funds in hands of alien property custodian as a basis of credits to Germany and subscription by congress to fifty-one percent of stock in companies for medicine for export business under the Kelce laws, are some of the measures which will be considered. Amendment of the federal farm loan act to permit short time loans on cattle and agricultural products, and a resolution directing the commerce department to make immediately available reports on crop conditions in foreign countries as received from commercial attaches, also may be discussed.

Restoration of trade relations with Russia, it was said, also might be suggested.

Secretary Houston, members of the federal reserve board and other government officials and representatives of various agricultural interests are expected to be heard.

ROMAN LITTLE OF MURDER

CLEVELAND, O., December 2.—The body of Mrs. Theresa Visconti, with a bullet hole in her breast, was found in her home early today. A broken window and a door locked on the inside indicated the slayer had escaped by jumping through the window. Indications in the room were that a struggle preceded the shooting.

TREADWAY CONFESSES TO PART IN MURDER

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Dec. 2.—As a signed statement given out by the police early today, Peter D. Treadway, one of the three arrested here in connection with the killing of Henry T. Peirce, manufacturer's agent, who was beaten to death in his apartment here November 22, is alleged to have admitted that he and "Al" Smith also known as Marion Elliott were the slayers. Treadway, in a verbal statement last night, according to the police, assumed full responsibility for the killing and did not mention Smith as having taken any part in it. In both statements he absolved J. A. Moss and Marie "Helen" Phillips, the other two prisoners, from any blame, declaring they were only innocent witnesses to the killing.

Today Treadway is quoted by detectives as saying that Smith struck the blows which knocked Peirce to the floor. Smith is the only one of the four suspects not yet apprehended. He has been traced as far as Steubenville, Ohio, and the officials said they looked for his arrest shortly.

Holbery was the motive, according to alleged signed confession, which says that Treadway and Smith, unknown to Moss and the girl, formed a plot on the night of the killing to hold up Peirce and that they suggested the "party" in his apartment for that purpose.

The five members of the party, Smith, Moss, Treadway, Marie Phillips and Peirce, went to the apartment about ten o'clock at night, the confession says, and continued:

"Peirce and Marie went in ahead and I followed, leaving the room a few minutes later to motion to Moss and Smith to come in. Moss went in first and I followed, passing my revolver to Smith in the rear.

"Peirce was in the act of taking a drink when Smith confronted him with a gun and blackjack, ordering him to throw up his hands. Peirce was intoxicated and at first thought it was a joke, but realizing it was a real hold-up, he refused to comply. Smith then struck him several times over the head with the blackjack until it broke. He then beat Peirce with the pistol until this also broke. Cursing me for their weakness, he grasped a pipe wrench and continued the beating. As Peirce sank to the floor I stepped a little over his face and finding him still breathing, I held the towel tightly until I was sure he was dead.

"Marie and Moss left the room after the first blows were struck and returned to her apartments, where we later picked them up and fled in Peirce's motor car."

Five Perish In New York Apartment House Fire

NEW YORK, December 2.—Marjorie Lescomb, a motion picture actress, and four unidentified persons were burned to death in a fire which swept through a five-story apartment house this morning at 29 West Fifty-seventh street. Miss Lescomb came to this country recently from England to engage in motion picture work.

The fire, which started in the basement of the building at an early hour, followed up in the dumb waiter shaft to upper floors. The blaze was discovered by a young woman student on the third floor who hurled a book through her window and shouted, "Fire" to the street below. She then dashed through the building giving the alarm.

Two of the unidentified victims were found on the second floor and another on the fifth. The house was occupied by student artists and professional people.

The dead included: Miss Marjorie Lescomb, motion picture actress, recently arrived in America from England; a girl known as "Betty," friend of Miss Lescomb; Mr. F. M. Potter, veterinary at the New York Hippodrome; Mrs. Harold Roswell Reid, singer, and Mrs. Leslie Jenkins, her sister.

King, who weighs 420 pounds. Note the "bridal bouquet" presented by a joking friend and proudly displayed. The couple expect to make their home in Venice, Cal.

Smash Windows In Business District

LONDON, Dec. 2.—Uniformed men visited Killymore, Ireland, this morning and indiscriminately smashed nearly all the windows in the business section of the city. Damage estimated at several thousand pounds was done with small hammers and stones, says a Cork dispatch to the Evening News.

Cabinet Rumors Fly Thick And Fast; "Who Is Who" Not Definitely Known

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
(Copyright, 1920, by Times Pub. Co.)
WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Cabinet rumors fly thick and fast as President-elect Harding approaches his inauguration. Two sets of opinions are to be encountered here. One is that Mr. Harding, not only hasn't committed himself to anybody but hasn't discussed cabinet with any one in such concrete terms as to warrant any accurate speculation about personnel. The other is that a half dozen or so of cabinet post whistlers have been and are conducting the situation in the hope of lining up a list of cabinet eligibles.

Weeks May Head Treasury

From the latter group comes all the information. And the last crop of ideas waited here covers the impression that a plan is afoot to persuade Governor Frank D. Roosevelt of Illinois to go abroad to become ambassador to Great Britain instead of becoming Secretary of the Treasury. The suggestion is interwoven with another concerning former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts, who has always been mentioned as the probable selection of Mr. Harding for Secretary of the Navy.

Mr. Weeks is a graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy and while a member of the Senate Committee on Naval Affairs showed great interest in the development of the navy. Senator Weeks is a banker and one of the group of Republicans who voted for the present Federal Reserve Act. Although he is represented as not anxious for a cabinet post whatsoever, there is a sentiment among his friends that he would be happier in the Secretaryship of the Treasury than the Navy particularly because he is a banker by experience and likes it.

London Can Have Anything He Wants

Therefore it has been supposed that Governor Logan, who won National attention by his business administration in Illinois, would become Secretary of the Treasury if he wanted it. (Continued on Page Eight)

ARGENTINA CASTS ONLY VOTE FOR REVISION

GENEVA, December 2.—A resolution rejecting the consideration of amendments to the League of Nations covenant at this session and presiding for a committee to study changes before the meeting of the next assembly was passed by the assembly of the league at today's session with but one dissenting vote.

This was cast by Delegate Freyre, of Argentina. Little had taken the floor during the debate on the resolution which was an animated one and his negative vote, which was entirely unexpected, caused consternation in the assembly as it was considered it would prevent the passage of the resolution under the provision that virtually all acts of the assembly must be by unanimous vote of the member nations represented.

President Hyman, however, ruled that the question was one of procedure, not requiring unanimity, and notwithstanding the Argentinean's negative vote, he declared the resolution adopted.

GENEVA, December 2.—In reporting today the decision of the League of Nations assembly committee on amendments to the league covenant not to recommend changes at this session, A. J. Balfour, of Great Britain, forecast the possible need of important changes in the future. The covenant was not regarded as perfect or final, he said, and the possibility must be considered of the next assembly being called upon to consider amendments of far greater importance than those now proposed.

The covenant, Mr. Balfour pointed out, was framed with remarkable rapidity and doubtless amendments will be necessary, but the committee found the present covenant, because the committee rejected the amendments proposed by the Scandinavian countries it was not to be considered that it disagreed with them.

"If you amend the covenant you amend the treaty of Versailles which gave seal to the peace of the world," he said.

Another motive of the committee, Mr. Balfour explained, was the conviction that one year's experience in the working of a covenant was insufficient to show just what amendments should be made and the committee deemed it advisable to wait.

Stowaway Glad To Forsake Raft And Thaw Out

NEW YORK, December 2.—After holding around aimlessly in the harbor of a raft for several hours in the dark, Wladimir Ernst, an 18-year-old stowaway from Austria, decided early today to abandon his novel method of eluding Ellis Island officials, and called desperately for help.

While thawing out by a radiator, he told a tug boat captain, who found him after much searching, he had been told that the way of stowaways entering America was hard and consequently when his ship entered the harbor he threw the raft overboard, jumped out and hoped to be washed ashore. He was taken to Ellis Island for deportation.

Aged Witness Offered To Whip Prisoner

COVINGTON, KY., December 2.—Although he is 68 years old and was suffering from bruises sustained during a fight with two would-be highwaymen on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad bridge here, J. F. Walsh, of this city, after testifying in court against one of the alleged assailants, declared that he could whip the prisoner with ease and offered to show the court if given an opportunity. Judge Hanson suggested that the fight be staged in the basement of the city hall, but the prisoner said he didn't want to hurt the old man.

Nine Story Apartment House Falls To Pieces

NEW YORK, December 2.—An all night search through the massive piles of masonry that deluged Fifty-second street at Broadway when a nine-story apartment house collapsed yesterday morning failed to establish definitely early today whether any lives were lost. Six workmen, however, who were members of a wrecking crew, demolishing the structure, were still unaccounted for, and four unexplained osteocasts still hanging in basement lockers bore testimony that at least that many persons have been killed.

The avalanche, which tumbled into the street just as throngs of people leaving work or returning home from the theaters, filled Broadway, crumpled the street structure, covered over the sidewalk for the protection of pedestrians as if it had been made of paper. City officials began an investigation to determine whether the collapse was due to negligence.

COURT HOUSE

Making Good Progress in Trial
Spendthrift progress has been made so far in the trial of the big damage suit of The Robert Grace Contracting Company, of Pittsburgh, against The C. & O. Northern Railway company, which started before Judge Thomas and a jury in common pleas court Wednesday morning.

The statements to the jury of the claims of both sides to the controversy were finished by the attorneys late yesterday afternoon when the introduction of testimony was started. Paul Kruger of Pittsburgh, who was superintendent of the work for the plaintiff company, being the first witness called to the stand and he had just finished his evidence this afternoon.

The plaintiff was hit in a vulnerable spot Thursday when the court put into evidence in support of the plaintiff's claim for damages on the score of the allegation that the work was delayed by the failure of the railroad company to secure the necessary right-of-way so that the work could proceed.

It was contended that the failure to secure the right-of-way destroyed the plans and order of the work that the contracting company had laid out and were entitled to follow in performance of its contract and as a result the work, it was claimed, was thrown over in the fall and winter months, at a greater expense to the contractor. The defense denied the claim that the work was delayed.

The court later modified his ruling and let the evidence go in subject to the objection of the defense with the right to remove this motion to exclude the testimony on the exclusion. Should the motion be sustained, one of the principal causes of action on the part of the plaintiff will be eliminated.

Six trucks filled with documentary evidence to be used on behalf of the plaintiff company were moved into the court room this morning.

the organization of the league has not been entirely perfected. The supervising of publicists in various sections of central Europe, involving the sending of troops and the question of a mandate for Armenia are among the matters discussed to date. The U. S. is not officially represented at the meeting.

Dr. And Mrs. Blankemeyer Are Prostrated With Grief Over Tragic Death Of Their Daughter

Belated to the tragic death, which occurred yesterday afternoon, of their three-year-old daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Blankemeyer, of Springfield, Ill., formerly of this city, the Illinois State Journal of Springfield, recently said:

The home of Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Blankemeyer, where for three years laughter and happiness have reigned, is still.

No more will little Margaret Josephine run and play. Her voice is hushed and her laugh is gone forever. Her parents are prostrated with sorrow at the sudden tragedy, and her grandparents, Colonel and Mrs. J. R. B. Van Cleave, are stunned by the blow.

An alcohol lamp snuffed out Margaret's life yesterday afternoon. Just how the tragedy occurred, no one will ever know. It was about noon that the baby's screams brought her father, one of Springfield's leading physicians, rushing to her bedroom to find the bed in flames. Despite his heroic efforts to save her, the flames enveloped her body. For five hours, she tossed in pain, while all of her father's science and that of Dr. G. F. Stetler could not ease. Then death came, relieving her suffering and casting its shadow of sorrow on the home.

Margaret had been in bed, ill with a slight cold. An alcohol lamp had been placed at her bedside. Whether its flame became too strong and ignited the bed, or whether it was knocked down in some manner by the child, no one can tell. Its deadly burns covered practically her entire body, and seriously burned the hands and arms of her father, before its ravages could be checked.

The suddenness of the tragedy has left the family stunned. Margaret was their only daughter, and her grandparents are suffering just as keenly. Colonel Van Cleave, formerly superintendent of insurance for the state of Illinois, was too ill with grief to speak last night. At his home, 115 East Cook street, where he had been taken after the tragic accident, he begged to be left alone.

Little Margaret had been ill only a few days, and the cold had not been considered at all serious.

POTAIRO

By RADIE STULL.

An unknown thief, or thieves, early this morning effected an entrance to the garage of the Portsmouth Page company on Robinson avenue and left with a five passenger Page car owned by William S. Marshall, a steelworker, who lives on Eleventh street.

To get at the Marshall car the thief had to move Conrad Roth's car in the garage and P. W. Killeys's Sedan was moved outside, where it was found this morning. Gasoline was drained from the Roth car and the thief got a flying start, as the theft was not discovered until Mr. Roth went after his car this morning. He found the front garage door open and soon notified General Manager C. E. Elman. An investigation showed that the staple holding the front door lock in position had been pulled and when the door was opened the thief had access to any part of the garage.

Mr. Marshall's machine is comparatively new, and for this reason the thief elected to steal it instead of the Roth and Killeys machines. Mr. Marshall said today he carried no insurance on his car.

The police are making an effort to locate the machine.

Thursday evening at the First Christian church the men's chorus got away to a good start under the guidance of Joseph Kershaw, who stated that he was both pleased and surprised with the way the men handled the few numbers rehearsed under his direction. Needless to say that his offer was readily accepted by the men, and preparations are now being made for the regular meeting, each Tuesday evening. M. H. Mead, president of the Portsmouth Choral Society, was present and complimented the chorus very highly and urged them to come to the next meeting of the Choral Society, which meets each Wednesday evening in the east room of the public library. Many of the chorus plan to attend this meeting also.

UP GOES THAT IRONTON BRIDGE AGAIN

The Ironton Register Wednesday evening said: "The Register is privileged to announce from authoritative sources that the building of a bridge, at a point somewhere between Ironton and Coal Grove, either by Mr. Ely, president of the Ohio Valley Electric system, or by local men, at this time seems a foregone conclusion. Local attorneys are in connection with Mr. Ely relative to the construction of a combination bridge across the Ohio, to be used by the traction company, pedestrians and vehicles. As the plans now stand no thought is given to the use of the bridge by steam railways, but later developments may make it desirable to provide for steam roads. The Ohio Valley Electric company owns the approach and right of way for a bridge in Kentucky opposite the Peters Fire Brick plant, in Coal Grove, and it is known to a certainty that Mr. Ely, whose office is in Philadelphia, has already declared his preference for this site. The construction of this bridge was under consideration in 1914, just prior to the declaration of war which devastated the world. Just prior to the war a physical inventory of the Portsmouth street railway lines and the Ohio Valley Traction company, as far as completed at the time, was taken by the Ohio Valley Electric company with a view to acquiring this valuable property, giving the American Railways company of which Mr. Ely is president, exclusive ownership of all electric lines between Portsmouth and Guyandotte. It is said that the American Railways company planned an extension of this property from Portsmouth to Chillicothe and from Guyandotte to Charleston. In the event of such a consolidation a bridge over the Ohio would become imperative. At any rate we are pleased to announce that the advisability of a bridge between Ironton and Ashland, to be owned by the electric company, is under serious consideration and the announcement of a decision to start the construction of a bridge in the not far distant future may reasonably be expected before many months have elapsed. While the construction of the Ohio Valley Electric company's bridge is being considered, the Register is also informed, from reliable sources that local capitalists have been in consultation with big financial concerns abroad, with a view of the construction of a great railway, wagon and pedestrian bridge between Ironton and Ashland, such a venture would pay big dividends. One of Ironton's wealthiest

Falconry Still Practiced

Falconry, known to the Chinese 2000 B. C., and a popular sport in days of Nineveh and Babylon, 1200 B. C., is still in vogue in certain parts of England. Wild hawks are caught and tamed for the sport, and the Illustrated London News recently related how one old Hollander, with two assistants, captured a sufficient number of the sporting birds to keep English clubs supplied. The hawks are trapped with decoy pigeons and nets. The hawks bear a distinct resemblance to smaller ones.

FINAL APPEAL TO JOIN RED CROSS

The final appeal of "the greatest mother of the world" is being sent out now to enroll members for the Red Cross and to bring the Fourth Roll Call in 1920 to a successful conclusion. All who have not yet shown their appreciation of what the Red Cross has done and is doing for the people of humanity in this city and country by joining the Red Cross are urged to send their memberships in at once. The total number of memberships has been swollen to 4113 by a report of over 300 memberships secured at the Whitaker-Glossner Convention.

If you are in doubt as to joining the Red Cross, think of the wonderful work that the organization has done and your obligations will be answered. The thought of those of local children has been saved by means of operations for traction.

The work of the Red Cross is entirely devoted to the relieving of misery and unhealthy conditions. Scores of disabled soldiers have received financial aid through the local chapter and at the present time families of ex-service men are being partially or wholly supported in cases where the man is not able to work.

Every cent of the money received is devoted to work that is for the betterment of humanity. Fifty cents of your dollar goes to carry on the national work of the organization, such as disaster relief, foreign work, etc.

The other fifty cents stays in this city to aid in carrying on the local work. Won't you aid by becoming a member?

Their letter of endorsement follows:

"Success, sacrifice, sacrifice is the quality necessary to achieve success. Then, too, you must have tenacity. That is the greatest quality. Without it no man can possibly succeed. One failure leads to another failure, and one success to another success. Win out in one thing before giving it up or trying another. That is very important. It would rather employ a person of no extraordinary ability, but who had great tenacity, than one of conspicuous learning and intelligence, but without tact. Judgment, initiative and energy, all these are most desirable and valuable qualities. But above and beyond all, you must have tenacity and tact.—Daniel Guggenheim.

"A House of Hearts. A 'heart' home is that of the wife. A doctor in California. The tables, chairs, etc., in fact, all the furniture of the particular home are heart-shaped. The owner's bed has a heart-shaped headboard supported on both sides by bedposts carved to represent Cupid's arrow. The heart-shaped headboard is decorated with a heart-shaped picture frame in which two angels embrace each other. The remarkable house is named the 'Heart-Cardium,' which means the membrane enclosing the heart and the great blood vessels.

CHRIS HEER'S CAR STOLEN; IS RECOVERED IN IRONTON

Chris Heer, general manager of the Middle English company, motored down to Highlow M. E. church, Fifth and Washington streets at 7:30 Wednesday night. After being in church five minutes he remembered he did not lock his machine.

When he returned to lock it the car was missing. It had been stolen. The police were notified and they in turn gave a description of the seven passenger Buick to all nearby cities.

An hour later word came from Ironton that two men and a Buick car were being held there. The machine proved to be Mr. Heer's and he left today for Ironton to recover his machine.

Relative to its recovery the Ironton in this morning said:

Quick work on the part of Sheriff Hutchinson and Officer Kendall of the local police force resulted last night in the recovery of an automobile and the arrest of the two men who stole it within an hour after it was taken from in front of a church at Portsmouth.

About 7:30 o'clock last night the sheriff and the police headquarters received word from the Portsmouth police about the theft of the machine, a seven passenger Buick and Sheriff Hutchinson and Officer Kendall rushed into a stolen car which was recovered last week and which is held at the police station and went to Hunting Rock bridge. They had just established themselves in a position to watch the road when a car drove in sight. Sheriff Hutchinson stepped out onto the road and was almost run down by the driver, who did not put on his brake until he saw the sheriff's gun, which was about the same time Officer Kendall mounted the running board and covered the pair with his gun.

The men gave their names as Scott Nelson of Columbus and George Deering of Cincinnati. When the officers searched the men they found no guns but each man had a pocketful of revolvers and cartridges and one of them had a new holster which had evidently been used a short time. Deering said the gun that went with the holster had been pawned in Cincinnati but they could not account for the cartridges. They were lodged in the county jail and Sheriff Hutchinson took charge of the automobile, awaiting its owner from Portsmouth.

GUN VICTIM WILL RECOVER

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., December 2.—That the recovery of Mrs. Charles Solomon, who was shot down Tuesday night in her apartment at the Star hotel by John R. Wood, a prominent contractor, who a short time later took his own life, is apparently certain, was announced yesterday afternoon by Dr. A. K. Kessler, of Kessler-Hartfield Hospital.

The victim of the would-be-assassin was taken to the operating table yesterday morning, after she had recovered sufficiently from the shock of the attack to undergo this ordeal. The surgeons found that none of the three bullets which struck her had touched a vital spot, Dr. Kessler said. The bullet which was lodged in her shoulder had not, as was thought, ranged through the body, but had ranged upward through the fleshy part of the arm, and the bullet which struck near the hip ranged down instead of penetrating as had been feared, the abdominal cavity. The third bullet went through the left arm.

Last night authorities at the hospital said that Mrs. Solomon's condition continued favorable.

Mrs. Charles Solomon formerly resided on Eleventh street, this city. J. H. Goodpastor, of Waller street, stated Thursday that he knew Mrs. Solomon, but that she was not a relative.

Arrested Persecution. "The play's the thing," said Hamlet. "Don't let the stage manager or the actors hear you say that," warned Potomac. "They may get jealous of the author and call an actors' strike."

"We haven't much use for a Sunday law out our way. We have other things on our minds that demand our attention."

The reform organizations have established elaborate headquarters here and are preparing to carry on an extensive lobbying campaign at the capital during the coming session. Many of the skillful lobbyists of the Anti-Saloon League have forsaken that organization to take up the cause of the reform Sabbath.

To Relieve Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness, or who are growing hard of hearing and have head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can usually be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has effected complete relief. Sufferers who could scarcely hear have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear. Therefore, if you know of someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrhal deafness, put out this formula and hand it to them and you may have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Earsmint (Doyle Strength). Take this formula and add to it 1-4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

Paraffin is used in this way not only to reduce by tonic action the inflammation and swelling in the Eustachian Tubes, and thus to equalize the air pressure on the drum, but to correct any excess of secretion in the middle ear, and the results it gives are nearly always quick and effective.

Every person who has catarrh in any form, or distressing catarrh, hissing sounds in their ears, should give this recipe a trial. — Ad.

American And British Gunboats Hurrying To Scene Of Chinese Mutiny

SHANGHAI, China, Dec. 1.—American and British gunboats are hurrying to I-Chang, a treaty port in the province of Hu-bei, where numerous Chinese troops have looted and burned a portion of the city. The American gunboat Monocacy, which is now on patrol along the upper reaches of the Yangtze River above I-Chang, is the nearest warship to the scene of the trouble.

Loading and unloading at I-Chang continues, and property loss there is heavy, says a message relayed from Hankow.

HUNTING VICTIM'S BODY IS BROUGHT HERE FOR BURIAL

The body of Harold Holland, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Holland of Ellettsville, Ky., who was killed while hunting near Mansfield, Mich., last week, reached the Portsmouth N. & W. station from Columbus, Ohio, Wednesday evening at 7:50. Undertaker Morton of Columbus took charge of the body and moved it to the home today at 815 Chillum street. According to a letter received by the parents of the hunting victim, the young man was accidentally shot through the stomach, the wound causing death. The letter was from the undertaker at Mansfield and explained that Holland accidentally shot himself. The funeral services will be held at one o'clock Friday afternoon from the Ellettsville church.

Mrs. Daisy Scott, of 813 Chillum street, who has been visiting her sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Mrs. Scott was born and reared at Ironton and was about 47 years of age. Her maiden name was Almsworth. The deceased came to Portsmouth about fifteen years ago, and for sometime was employed as bookkeeper by the Portsmouth, Stove and Range Company. the inmates of the resort. The woman, Pauline Rust, is being held in police station on a charge of drunk and disorderly and molesting. She will be held until the case has been fully investigated by both the Ironton and Ashland authorities.

The young Portsmouth man came to this city in a taxi driven by Everett Allis, of Ashland, who was also accompanied by his brother, Ray Allis. These young men were taken into custody but they were a bit to combe Chief Maste and the police of their innocence and were released. Williams claimed that he spent the day Tuesday at the Magpie Huffman place and purchased liquor while there. He started to Portsmouth with Pauline Rust and missed his wallet after he had reached the ferry grade. He was in a very intoxicated condition and threatened to do the girl bodily harm, she said. Williams got out of the car at Second and Vesuvius streets and the taxi drove off without him. After the police discovered him the taxi party was apprehended at Congress by Officers Reed and Hall, and Officer Frankham. Chief Maste believes that Williams was robbed in Ashland and will assist the Kentucky officers in finding the guilty person.

MAKE FARMING A PLEASURE!

Shorter hours! Less farm help! Less hard work! Less Expense! More farming! Better farming! More money!

The Fordson Tractor has revolutionized farming!

The Fordson has passed the experimental age; it has come to stay.

The Fordson is replacing the horse on the farm as the automobile has already replaced the horse and wagon!

The Fordson stands today 150,000 strong on the farms of America. Practically one-half of all the Tractors in use are Fordsons, and the Fordson has been on the market less than three years. These figures are in themselves the final testimonial from the American Farmers.

There are 100 and more ways of utilizing The Fordson Tractor! New uses are discovered daily:—

Plowing, discing, harrowing, culti-packing, drilling, feed grinding, haying, harvesting, threshing, filling silos, corn shredding, sawing wood, dragging and grading roads, ditching, logging, stump pulling, hauling, construction work, etc.

SCIOTO COUNTY FARMERS INDORSE FORDSON TRACTORS TESTIMONIALS:

M. W. SWEARINGEN,
Buena Vista, Ohio
Fordson Tractor No. 21985
Delivered April 10, 1919

STATEMENT: The first year as a Fordson Owner I plowed 200 acres, also disc and prepared for corn. Cut 500 acres wheat, also cut ensilage using a No. 500 Ross Cutter. I hauled 19 tons of hay in seven hours. Prepared 20 acres wheat ground. It has taken the place of more than four teams of good horses. I have plowed on an average of 9 acres in 10 hours. Upkeep would not exceed $10 which was for tires, two belts, and spark plugs. Am more than pleased with the results obtained and can recommend the Fordson to anyone who wants to buy a Tractor.

JOHN E. RAPP
Route No. 1, Ports.
Fordson Tractor No. 91988
Delivered Feb. 26th, 1920

STATEMENT: I plowed thirty acres, disc two hundred acres twice, cut alfalfa and timothy, and hay on 100 acres. Used a Blizard Insulace Cutter, and a No. 50 Ross Insulace Cutter, gathered corn with it using a clearing No. 3 corn picker, and husker. The Fordson has been satisfactory in every way. It has never failed to do what was expected of it. I can recommend it to anyone who needs a Tractor. When I buy another Tractor it will be a Fordson.

WM. TIPTON
Buena Vista

Fordson Tractor No. 13111
Delivered July 26th, 1919

STATEMENT: The Fordson Tractor is fully as much as expected, and I am well satisfied with the results obtained. I have used it in all kinds of farm work on my 457 acre farm—plowing, harrowing, cutting wheat, hauling hay, ditching, discing, loading logs. I have hauled 50 shocks of fodder out of the bottom when a team could not pull 15 shocks. The Fordson saves the work of six head of horses. I can heartily recommend the Fordson to anyone who needs a tractor.

JOHN D. HEINZE
Lucasville

Fordson Tractor No. 13111
Delivered Oct. 9th, 1920

STATEMENT: I purchased my Fordson Tractor October 9th, 1920, and have used it mostly for discing corn ground for wheat. Am well pleased with the results. I considered other makes of Tractors before buying the Fordson, and satisfied myself that the Fordson was the best Tractor. I also consider the Service in getting replacements, a big item in buying the Fordson. Can recommend the Fordson to anyone needing a Tractor.

J. R. CRAYCRAFT
Friendship, Ohio
Fordson Tractor No. 69177-H

WORK DONE: Plowed ..... 150 acres
Disc ..... 175 acres
Blaze Spread ..... 40 acres

STATEMENT: We like the Fordson Tractor fine, as it has given us good service. In plowing we average 6 acres per day, in discing and culti-packing, we average 24 acres per day; cutting, 30 acres wheat and oats. I have four horses on my farm, and since I bought the Fordson, I use them for cultivating only. The Fordson does the rest. I will recommend the Fordson Tractor to any one who needs a Tractor, as the Fordson has exceeded my expectation.

DANIEL YOST
Friendship

Fordson Tractor No. 92346
Delivered June, 1918

STATEMENT: My Fordson Tractor is more than satisfactory. Have used it for plowing, discing, cutting corn and wheat. The Fordson does all work necessary on my 125 acre Ohio River farm. It takes the place of eight horses, and I would not think of doing without the Fordson if my farm was not half as large. If you need a Tractor, buy a Fordson.

HARRY VAUGHTERS

Fordson Tractor No. 92362
Delivered Oct., 1918

WORK DONE: Plowed ..... 175 acres
Disc ..... 165 acres
Cut ..... 60 acres wheat
Cut ..... 50 acres oats

STATEMENT: One field of wheat of 20 acres was cut in 12 hours. The expense of repairs will not exceed fifty dollars for two years service. I might say, I have received excellent service from the Universal Motor Co. The Fordson Tractor has been so satisfactory that if I were to buy another Tractor, it would surely be a Fordson.

MARLEY MUSTARD
Duke, O.

Fordson Tractor No. 92281
Delivered Oct. 20, 1920

WORK DONE: Plowed ..... 150 acres
Disc ..... 175 acres
Cut ..... 60 acres wheat
Cut ..... 50 acres oats

STATEMENT: I used less than twenty dollars worth of fuel in discing 50 acres, including Kerosene and lubricating oil. Double of buying four spark plugs. I have not had any expense whatever. I am certainly well pleased with the results. Can recommend the Fordson to anyone who wants to buy a Tractor. I cannot praise it too highly.

J. A. THOMPSON & SON
Rarden, O.

Fordson Tractor No. 91901
Delivered Feb. 19th, 1920

WORK DONE: Plowed ..... 50 acres
Disc ..... 175 acres
Culti-packed ..... 175 acres

STATEMENT: We are well pleased with the results of the Fordson Tractor. It is not only the best Tractor on the market but it is the most economical. In plowing 7 1/2 acres we worked 10 hours and used about 20 gallons kerosene. I think the Fordson Tractor is better than any Tractor on the market.

G. W. MUSTARD
Duke, O.

Fordson Tractor No. 69172

STATEMENT: I am a Fordson Tractor owner. Bought a Fordson from the Universal Motor Co., Nov. 12th, 1919. If I were to buy another Tractor it would be a Fordson.

GEORGE H. HILL
Route No. 1, Ports.

Fordson Tractor No. 23524H
Delivered March 27, 1919

STATEMENT: The first year as a Fordson owner, I plowed 25 acres, disc 125 acres. The second year I plowed 75 acres and disc 120 acres. The Tractor had done more work than I could do with four good teams. I am well satisfied with the Fordson, and if I had been able to receive delivery when I needed the Tractor, I would have bought another Fordson. Have had no repairs in the two years service. Can recommend the Fordson to anyone wanting to buy a Tractor. If I were to buy again, could be a Fordson.

FRANK J. KUHN
Star Route, Ports.

Fordson Tractor No. 31233H
Delivered Aug. 19th, 1919

STATEMENT: I have used the Fordson for plowing, discing, and all other farm work. It takes the place of four good teams. The expense has been very moderate, and I am a well satisfied Fordson owner.

November 26th, 1920.

STATEMENT

On April 7th, 1920, I purchased Fordson Tractor No. 91645 from Universal Motor Co., Portsmouth, Ohio.

I used Tractor for plowing, discing, rolling. Plowed 50 acres, disc 120 acres, farm to Scotch Bottom, which is sandy farm.

The Fordson Tractor is certainly a great success and very useful on the farm. Under conditions of this spring, I could not have gotten my corn crop in without the Fordson. I used on an average of 20 gallon kerosene per day, and less than 1 gallon lubricating oil.

If I were to buy another Tractor it would certainly be a Fordson, for two special reasons, namely, PRICE, SERVICE. Can heartily recommend the Fordson Tractors.

Room No. 30, Ohio River

Office, Ky., Sept. 10, 1920

Mr. Ralph H. Leslie,
Ford and Fordson Agent,
Greensburg, Ky.
Dear Sir:—

In reply to your recent inquiry in regard to the Fordson Tractor which we bought of you some time ago, will state that it has become a very important piece of our plant. We had intended only to use it for pulling freight cars on our siding, but after trying it out it struck us that it might be of value inside the colliery, after we had pumped out.

Our colliery encloses about 12 acres, and after it was pumped out, we found mud and sand to the depth of from 12 to 30 inches deep. We put the Fordson in to this mud at the thinnest place, with one and two drag scrapers attached to it, and even the most optimistic were very much surprised at the amount of work done, and the amount of mud removed.

We roughly estimate that the Fordson took the place of at least 20 men, and the best of it was that the material removed was taken to the pumps and pumped outside of the colliery, and thus gotten rid of, where if men had done the work, the material would have had to be removed at some other time.

For the work that it was originally intended for—moving freight cars on our siding—will say that it has done as much if not more than we expected.

Our siding is level, standard gauge, and we have moved a 30 ton coal car with a single line. When we get a car that is extra hard to move, we simply attach a snatch block, and thus double the line. We use a 1-2 inch wire line about 60 ft. long.

We have found it practically impossible to stall the engine on a pull, as the wheels will continue to turn and cut themselves down into the ground until they get a full bearing.

Would recommend it to almost any contractor or farmer, as it can be adapted to a whole lot of uses for which the inventor, evidently never intended it.

Very truly yours,
NATIONAL CONTRACT CO.

What Else Can You Think Of That Will Beat This?
Motor No. 12100

I bought my Fordson Tractor April 5, 1919. Have plowed 500 acres, disc 400 acres. Plowed 8 1/2 acres in 8 hours. Tugged a saw mill job off a 90 per cent grade hill. Run a 41 inch saw and sawed from 200 to 2100 feet per day. I can go down any hill I can get a team down. Pulled a 5 ton Frick Separator over Steer. Haul on plow gear. Have moved 2 buildings, scraped and graded and cut wheat with my Fordson. Will say that it is the finest thing that ever drew a binder. Can do most anything that can be done with a team and quite a few things a team can not do. Pulled out by roots over 100 apple trees in an old abandoned orchard which was a wonderful saving of time and labor. Could not buy any other Tractor but a Fordson.

A Few Words From A Pioneer Tractor Man
Motor No. 69181

Delivered November 3, 1919
Have owned a tractor for several years and have visited the Ohio State Fair every year and have made a study of different makes of Tractors with the view of buying. About a year ago I bought a Fordson after careful study. I have plowed over 100 acres, disc 200 acres, cut wheat and oats. I consider the Fordson the best and most economical tractor on the market. Have not had one cent of expense. If I bought another tractor it would sure be a Fordson and I would not stay on a farm 21 hours without a Fordson.

I Have Owned A Fordson Tractor Two Years
Motor No. 92239

Delivered June 11, 1919
Have plowed 400 acres, disc 200 acres.

Have used my Fordson on a Blizard Ensilage Cutter and filled 12 silos. Have run a 23.5 cylinder Frick Separator with ease. Have pulled country road grader, cut all the wood in our neighborhood. Would not farm without a tractor and consider Fordson best on the market. $2.00 would cover my repair bill in this length of time.

VINTON MEWING,

Motor No. 94667
Delivered March 27, 1920
Have owned my Fordson less than a year. Have plowed and disc, cut wheat. Have loaded saw logs to mill when our team would stick. We pulled them out with Fordson. I would not farm without a Fordson which is best adapted for our hill country. If I bought another tractor it would be a Fordson.

We have owned a Fordson for a little over a year. Have plowed 200 acres, disc and rolled, cut 40 acres wheat. Run a saw mill with a 45 inch saw. Sawed from 200 to 2000 feet per day. Have spent nothing for repairs and have had no trouble. Would not do farming without a Fordson and Fordson only.

Have owned a Fordson for 2 years and on our 180 acre farm we cultivate 120 acres and have only 1 team, as our Fordson has plowed 350 acres, disc 350 acres and filled silos. Would not part with our Fordson. If we buy another tractor it will be a Fordson.

The service rendered on the Fordson tractor is a very great advantage. As to plowing the corners and getting close to the fence, will say that we plowed an 18 acre field with corners as perfect as if done with a horse team. If not better, I'd not have a team in field.

Does it get the corners? This man has plowed his garden. Have plowed 70 acres cut corn with Fordson, when corn was down down so bad that we could only cut one way. Filled silo and neighbors were surprised with ease with which the Fordson did the work. Have graded roads. If I bought another tractor it would be a Fordson. We get along with less horses and feed for these since we have had a Fordson.

earning for you a satisfactory income. You may find that it would be profitable for you to trade some of your old securities for new or different ones.

We shall be glad to assist you in this matter and to consult

THE COMMUNITY'S HEALTH

THERE is not a person in this town, or the country either for that matter, who is not vitally concerned in the health of the community. It is important that the most rigid sanitary regulations should have force not only here but in every city throughout the country. For epidemics of disease can be kept to a minimum. They are the greatest dangers of life.

A pre-war estimate by a leading sanitarian places the average value of a human life at $3,000, and the average cost of medical attention and nursing care for each case of typhoid fever, for instance, at $300. On this basis in one small town epidemic 66 cases of typhoid cost $11,000 and in addition the loss of vital capital because of six deaths was $21,000.

That is a lot of money to be taken out of a community. It is not to consider it even from a humanitarian standpoint. It is really not good business policy to let such things happen. Public health is a purchasable. Within natural limits every community can determine its own death rate.

Modern health methods include infant welfare, child welfare, prevention of communicable diseases and the sanitation of the community. Money invested in public health pays a dividend to every member of the community. A healthful community will not only have more money to spend on the necessities and luxuries of life, but it will attract trade from a wider territory. Health is a business proposition.

JUST A DOG

SOME people love horses, some people love hinds, some people love cats, some people even love other people, but where is there a man or woman who does not love a dog? Not a petted, pampered, primped show dog, but just plain dog—nothing but a dog from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail.

Give a youngster a dog for a companion, and the kid will never go to the dogs. A dog will be loyal and friendly, happy and obedient, mischievous and lovable; a dog is a good friend for any one. Just a plain dog will do. A dog without pedigree, without price, without anything to boast of except that he is only a dog, with a dog's instincts, a dog's manners, a dog's sincerity, a dog's unwavering faith in and kindness to anyone who will be loyal and kind to him.

Just a plain dog. In other words, a mutt, a mongrel, yes, a cur. He will love his little master or his little mistress. Every boy and girl, at some time in life, is surely entitled to one plain, everyday, ordinary dog.

Who can remember when a man could have ham and eggs regularly and turned to quail on toast for variety?

When a man puts a mortgage on his house to buy an automobile he may not see it, but he is sure to feel it.

The business of making a failure of marriage will flourish less when men and women use their brains more than their tongues.

Compliments are so rare in the case of most persons that one can hardly be blamed for feeling a bit uppish over an occasional one.

One once heard a lot of talk about a schoolhouse on every hill-top, but now you see a filling station on every street corner.

The oldest voter among women may be over a hundred, and proud of it, but more of them would rather be regarded as over twenty-one.

A lot of folks would like to be aroused some morning by hearing the winter's supply of coal making music through the chute to the cellar.

It is said that some big coal associations are considering a reduction in prices, but they do not intend to be precipitate about it.

It may be that one of the reasons for lack of political enthusiasm this year is that most of the post offices are under civil service regulations.

Many a man in trying to put his best foot forward gets it into his mouth.

A matrimonial race is one in which two win, but one or both may wish they had lost.

A 58-cent dollar is probably as good as any to persons to whom its only use is to be spent.

A married man should not need to go downtown to talk politics—he should get that at home a-plenty.

To Save The Redwoods

By Frederic J. Haskin

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., Dec. 2.—Only the California redwoods of the coast and the Sierra have survived. "Save the Redwoods before it is too late" is now the popular cry. Among the latter, protected in the national forest, are 12,000 trees which are the absolute destruction of the coast. These trees are the most valuable of the coast. If you are a local tax-payer, the most valuable of the coast. If you are a local tax-payer, the most valuable of the coast. If you are a local tax-payer, the most valuable of the coast.

The General Grant National Park, which is sometimes mistaken for the Sequoia National Park because it is separated from it only by six miles of mountain and forest, was created merely for the protection of one giant sequoia, the General Grant Tree, 264 feet high and 26 feet in diameter. Next to General Grant is his distinguished neighbor, George Washington, who is only 9 feet less in height and 6 feet less in diameter.

It is a matter of record that 3,000 fence posts sufficient to build a wire fence around eight or nine thousand acres of land, were once made from one of these giant trees, and that was merely the first step, in disposing of its great carcass. Next, 67,000 shingles enough to cover the roofs of 70 or 80 houses—were taken from its trunk. This left hundreds of cords of firewood which had to remain where it was because it was too expensive to haul it down from the mountains.

With trees of minor but still tremendous capacity in their possession, the owners of the redwood tracts along the coast highway cannot be blamed for attempting to realize on the value of their timber lands. At present, according to the secretary of the Redwood League, much of the cutting has been held up by options secured in 1919 for the price of $20,000. This money was provided by Humboldt county in California, which contributed $20,000, and by two private citizens, William Kent and Stephen Mather, who gave $10,000 each. Unfortunately, however, the options will soon expire, and the coast redwoods will be wholly unprotected—unless the United States government or the state of California chooses to come to their rescue and purchase them for one more national park.

Only a Few Left

"Not such a great deal is left to be saved," explained the secretary of the Redwood League, in discussing its campaign. "It is not such a great task that faces us, and the mills are reducing it every day. One mill is working within a hundred feet of the state highway, in the very heart of one of the most beautiful remaining groves. Signs along the road warn the motorist to beware of falling trees."

"There are only a few miles of redwoods along the state highway, not more than a dozen at most," he continued, hunting through his desk for a map that would show their exact location. "You go along for some distance on a beautiful road, shaded by oak and pine trees. Then all at once, the road dips sharply into the shade of tremendous trees that rise in straight columns 200 feet or more in the air. They are not like the clumsy giants of the Sierras, but graceful and beautifully proportioned."

"The contrast between one of these groves and the stretches of desolation where the lumbermen have been at work is terrible. The world must have lumber, no doubt, and the redwoods must furnish their share, but there are thousands of redwoods elsewhere in the state that may be used for this purpose. To destroy the redwoods along the highway is simply a monstrous piece of vandalism that it will take 10 centuries to make amends for."

"Perhaps it is the ancient treasure-ships in every man that makes him love the redwoods. There seems to be something kindly as well as awe-inspiring about them, as if, having watched man for centuries, they had nothing but pity left for him."

The sequoias at one time covered almost the entire northern hemisphere, according to scientists, who have unearthed their fossil remains in Europe, Siberia, Alaska and Canada. And of all this tremendous stretch of sequoia forest that once covered the world

Q. Who invented the game of basketball? F. W.

A. Albert S. Driscoll, who later went to West Point and ultimately became a major general in the United States army, is given the credit for originating the game in 1890. He and some other young men began to play a game that afterwards called basketball. One of these named Cartwright had the idea of a diamond to improve the game. "Two Old Cats" and "Three Old Cats" were still early forms of ball and were adapted probably from the English game of rounders.

Q. How deep do divers go and how long do they stay? F. S. P.

A. The Navy Department says that divers can reach the depth of 250 feet if equipped with the most modern apparatus, and can stay down about two hours.

Q. Can peanut butter be made at home? E. W. S.

A. With a meat grinder the process is simple. If you have the peanuts, it is easy. If you have the peanuts, it is easy. If you have the peanuts, it is easy. If you have the peanuts, it is easy. If you have the peanuts, it is easy.

Q. Where are the deepest oil wells in the world? M. C. T.

A. The Geological Survey says that three of the deepest oil wells are in this country and one in Germany. The J. H. Lutz near Fairmont, West Virginia, is 7,575 feet, the Gulf near Clarksburg, West Virginia, is 7,280 feet deep, the well at Cushing, Germany has a depth of 7,245 feet, and the B. A. Geary near McDonald, Pa., 7,215 feet.

Q. Is colored hearing a disease? If so, is it a common one? F. H.

A. Colored hearing, or chromacusis, is found quite as often among normal individuals as it is among people who are deaf. The association of colored hearing with certain sounds is found in about one person in eight.

Q. What is the weight of a million twenty-dollar bills? J. I. G.

A. The Treasury Department says that a million paper bills, whether one-dollar or twenty-dollar bills, would weigh about 4500 pounds.

Q. What is the speed limit for automobiles in Buenos Ayres? C. R.

A. In the city of Buenos Ayres, traffic regulations require motorists to keep to the left of the road and drive not more than 12 kilometers, or 7.5 miles per hour. Outside the larger cities, no speed limit exists.

Q. How did Lynchburg, Virginia, get its name? L. J.

A. Lynchburg was named after John Lynch who founded the city in 1750.

Q. Was the tower on Madison Square Garden modeled after some old world tower? H. E. F.

A. This tower, over 300 feet in height, was copied from the Giralda at Seville, Spain. The Giralda, now serving as the belfry of the cathedral at Seville, was built between 1151 and 1165 as a minaret of a mosque.

Q. What does "Madonna" mean? T. H. S.

A. Madonna is an Italian word signifying "My Lady." It is especially applied to the Virgin Mary and has become incorporated in other languages, particularly when used to describe the Mother of Christ in works of art.

Q. What is the origin of the word "himenix"? N. O. G.

A. The word is said to have been adopted as a name for a certain kind

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MERTZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—It was the day they were home-again folk and frank after dinner hour. Chins were drawn in and it was their first view of the city in a circle and chairs lighted. All the ocean. Naturally the yacht in-lure in immediate dinner dress and cringed them. But it was temporarily their expressions bespoke intelligence and of consternation and so each more of a high order. The conversation in the barland world came down in drifted to literature. Some person with hat and stick went down to the wife of Ivan Muscovitch, the great one of the speech with: "Well, mother, I wonder if we go on the vessel today."

"A great writer who has never been received according to his true worth," said the speaker. All heads nodded in approval. Seemingly sympathy the speaker—a novelist himself—continued to sound the praises of the mighty Russian. "Others," he said, "have only grazed the surface of life—but Muscovitch has gone to the heart of things—shown us our emotions and revealed the things we knew were true, yet which we feared to look upon."

"I was wondering the other day," said one of the group—a magazine writer, "the age of Muscovitch. A man to have written with his understanding must have lived a number of years."

"Muscovitch," said his admirer, "will be 50 years old the third day of December, and while that subject is up I think it is fitting that we who know of his great work shall in some way commemorate the auspicious day. Let it be known as Ivan Muscovitch Day, and let the men of American letters get together and pay him tribute."

No one dissented. All agreed that it would be a splendid thing to do. A temporary chairman—the novelist who brought up his name and admitted him to the group—was appointed. Later on a permanent organization was formed.

That was, however, as far as it has gone. The story has just leaked out and I have the word of the responsible practical joker that it is all true. There is no Ivan Muscovitch so far as he knows. The writer manufactured his name on the spot of the moment to test his theory that among a group of writing men no one will ever admit they have not heard of any writer. However, most any one of the crowd will now admit, if asked, that he never heard of Ivan Muscovitch, and he will throw in a couple of blunders to boot.

There is an Indiana novelist who has a home on the seashore in the East. He also has a neighborly guest. This summer he had as house guests a man and wife from the middle west.

of nonsense rhyme because an old song current in Ireland, which had the same verse conclusion, contained the phrase "Himerc."

Stowaway Glad To Forsake Raft And Thaw Out

NEW YORK, December 2.—After floating around aimlessly in the harbor of a raft for several hours in the dark, Wase Ernst, an 18-year-old stowaway from Austria, decided early today to abandon his novel method of eluding Ellis Island officials, and called desperately for help.

While floating out by a radiator, he told a tug boat captain, who found him after much searching, he had been told that the way of stowaways entering America was hard and consequently when his ship entered the harbor he threw the raft overboard, jumped onto it and begged to be washed ashore. He was taken to Ellis Island for deportation.

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2.—The Ohio National Guard will soon have a complete regiment of cavalry, according to William General Layton. There has been no meeting at Camp with the Guard as yet.

No Shortage Of Coal Cars

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 2.—There is no shortage of coal cars in the city, according to the public utilities commission. During the week ending November 29, practically all the cars had been paid for by the city.

LONDON, December 2.—Gabriele d'Annunzio, in command of the insurgents at Fiume, has declared war on Italy, according to a Milan dispatch to the London Times. A state of war will begin Friday.

FIUME, December 2.—Before I will agree to the despicable policy of opportunism which is dividing Italy today, whereby the enemies of Italy hope to hand over Fiume to Jungo-Slavism, I will myself press the button which is already prepared in my headquarters, which will explode a mine and blow up the entire city, myself, with it.

THIRST, Dec. 2.—Declaration of a state of war with Italy, beginning Friday morning, which was made yesterday by Captain Gabriele d'Annunzio, is not regarded as a serious light by military commanders here. There is warlike activity in Fiume, however, and the sound of cannon and rifle fire may be heard along the gulf of Quarnero.

All travel in and out of Fiume has been placed under restrictions, and baggage is being thoroughly searched for arms. While closest watch is being kept on the operations of smugglers who seek to take firearms and munitions into the city, propaganda letters and money are also being sought. Trains leaving Fiume are held up for hours at the frontier by searching parties. Superior officers in d'Annunzio's army continue to abandon the poet-soldier.

Senator York Named Mayor Of Williamson

WILLIAMSON, W. VA., December 2.—State Senator William York, Republican, was named mayor pro tempore by three members of the city council at its meeting here last night. Senator York will assume duties of Mayor W. O. Porter, who is ill in a city hospital. The action was taken after the military had virtually collapsed an ultimatum to civil authorities that the city must be "brought up." The police department had been all but powerless to act without a permit. The senator was named by the three Republican members of the commission after the two Democratic members had left the meeting before it adjourned.

The Democrats disputed the validity of naming a mayor pro tempore of the city, claiming that the clerk, Gray Hatfield, the clerk, is also a Republican.

All the street level windows in the club were broken. Police fought an hour to disperse the mob.

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEES TO MEET TO CONSIDER RELIEF MEASURES FOR AGRICULTURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—Agricultural committees of the senate and house will meet in joint session this afternoon to consider possible relief measures for the agricultural situation. The meeting is in response to an invitation from the senate members.

Revival of the war finance corporation, further extension of credits to farmers, placing of tariff on wheat imports, utilization of funds in hands of fallen property owners as a task of credits to Germany, and subscription by request to fifty percent of stock in companies for medicine, for export business under the War laws, are some of the measures which will be considered. Amendment of the federal farm loan act to permit short time loans on cattle and agricultural products, and a resolution directing the commerce department to make immediately available reports on crop conditions in foreign countries as reflected from commercial attaches, may be discussed.

Restoration of trade relations with Russia, it was said, also might be suggested.

Secretary Houston, members of the federal reserve board and other government officials and representatives of various agricultural interests are expected to be heard.

Oakwoods Hurl Challenge At Smoke House Eleven

PENNY ANTE

CHICAGO, Dec. 2—The Chicago American League baseball club will endeavor to rebuild its team, riddled by the loss of seven stars through the baseball scandal, at Waco, Tex., today, that town having been announced as the training camp for 1921.

Manager Gleason will leave for the camp the first week in March and will take about forty men, two-thirds of them being recruits. Heretofore the team has left for its training camp about the middle of March, but an earlier start will be made to give Gleason a longer period to rebuild the club.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—Joe Stecher, world's heavy weight wrestling champion, plans to retire from the wrestling game after this season, he said today.

In preparation for his contest on December 13, with Ed Lewis, Lewis Stecher has cancelled matches in order to be in the best style form against the Great Crappler.

ANNAPOLI, Md., Dec. 2.—Next year's football schedule already is being discussed in a general way at the naval academy.

While there has been talk of an annual game with the University of Maryland at Annapolis, it is Philadelphia, as the mild men are now allowed to play away from home in addition to the army contract, it is not settled which other teams have been suggested.

Among these are Penn State, Virginia and Ohio State. The game will be with Princeton.

HUNTON, Dec. 2.—The Lombard team and all star F. O. E. Wellston football teams will play Sunday at Beechwood Park. The Lombard team was recently defeated by the Wellston team at Wellston by a score of 6 to 0, but the local players are satisfied that with a little change in their lineup they can defeat the visitors. It is highly likely that Duxie, Brooks and Schaeffler of the Tanks will play with Lombard, and "Huddle" North and Herbert Rose will be in their regular positions, both having practically recovered from their injuries. The Wellston team is said to be composed of very heavy players. Wellston played Portsmouth for the game this season.

The All Star Volley Team met the Outlaws last night at Walthamette hall—and also their first defeat. The Outlaws were lead by N. K. Griffin, who is unaccustomed to defeat, not even to accommodate such a formidable aggregation as the All Stars. So after he lost the first game, 21 to 11, he just took his lunch and wheeled the All Stars for all there was in it. Despite the work of Homer Selly, Chas. Beaman and Joe Brennan, the ball, after being batted back and forth for what seemed hours, would finally drop on the All Stars' side. The good work of Jim Breese, backed up his captain, and Donald Phillips was too much for them. They will let their chance for revenge later.

The line-ups were as follows:
All Stars—Homer Selly, Red Selly, Coach Metcalf, J. B. Miles, Chas. Beaman and Joe Brennan.
Outlaws—N. K. Griffin, Jim Breese, Donald Phillips, Fred. Eades, Hank Shady and Eddie Hook.

IRONSTONE, Dec. 2.—When football writers call Shorpy Daviles' play which resulted in the first touchdown, the old criss-cross, or an ancient play with whistlers, they evidence a complete lack of knowledge of the present day game. The play that Shorpy pulled is known as the Illinois line shift. It involves a passing of the ball from one half to the other, and this feature of the play is the only thing about the shift that bears a resemblance to the old criss-cross play of the 19's. The play was so speedily executed by Shorpy and his teammates that the Portsmouth and sport writers witnessed it failed to comprehend

When Sherry Davis said: "We fought to win by two touchdowns," he had the situation about sized up. Johnson, former Wisconsin star, and Davis, former Princeton and made Portmouth team what it was and but for their treatment would have had trouble defeating Portmouth by a score of 40 to 0. It was understood by these two men that they were not to play unless their services were desired by the Portmouth management, but even such a decision did not stop the Tanks. Well, truth were as these big fellows cannot win, if it did not take place for Portmouth from a college machine like the Tanks, to call this pair into the arena.

So the Tanks of Iron are going the gate receipts in that way. To celebrate their victory over Boris, promoters of Irons insist that 4000 went to see it but what is interesting but here at the same and the receipts total at least the game is what because of $1500. Some discrepancy.

The following letter has been received from F. B. Evans, manager of the Oakwood Skinks of Columbia, who played here Thanksgiving day. As the contents of the letter indicate the eleven is anxious to lock horns with the local team again.

Sporting Editor,
Times.

Dear Sir:—

As our full team did not arrive in your city to play the scheduled game at Millbrook Park Thanksgiving afternoon, we could not match the strength of the Smoke House eleven with the Oakwood. Now we are very anxious to prove which team is superior and challenge Futzak's eleven to a return match to be played at Neil Park in Columbus next Sunday, December 3.

We are willing to play on any one of the following propositions:

(1) On a winner take all basis, $500 for 20 men with privileges of 60 or 40 per cent of the gate receipts, 60 to winner and 40 to loser or for all the gate receipts and a $1000 (one thousand dollars) side bet. A forfeit of $500 must be posted by both teams.

All we ask is that the Smoke House eleven use only the men that wore the uniform at Millbrook Park on Thanksgiving day, Dec. 25. We will use only the men given in a lineup furnished for last Thursday's game.

Very truly yours,
F. B. EVANS.

The girls basketball team at P. I. S. has started to practice and a good team no doubt will be rounded in shape. The team is planning to play several out of town games during the winter months.

THE COMMUNITY'S HEALTH

There is not a person in this town, or the country either for that matter, who is not vitally concerned in the health of the community. It is important that the most rigid sanitary regulations should have force not only here but in every city throughout the country. For epidemics of disease can be kept to a minimum. They are the greatest wasters of life.

A pre-war estimate by a leading sanitarian places the average value of a human life at $3,600, and the average cost of medical attention and nursing care for each case of typhoid fever, for instance, at $200. On this basis in one small town epidemic 55 cases of typhoid cost $11,000 and in addition the loss of vital capital because of six deaths was $21,600.

That is a lot of money to be taken out of a community. Let us not consider it even from a humanitarian standpoint. It is really not good business policy to let such things happen. Public health is purchasable. Within natural limits every community can determine its own death rate.

Modern health methods include infant welfare, child welfare, prevention of communicable diseases and the sanitation of the community. Money invested in public health pays a dividend to every member of the community. A healthful community will not only have more money to spend on the necessities and luxuries of life, but it will attract trade from a wider territory. Health is a business proposition.

JUST A DOG

SOME people love horses, some people love birds, some people love cats, some people even love other people, but where is there a man or woman who does not love a dog? Not a petted, pampered, primped show dog, but just plain dog—nothing but a dog from the tip of his nose to the tip of his tail.

Give a youngster a dog for a companion, and the kid will never go to the dogs. A dog will be loyal and friendly, happy and obedient, mischievous and lovable, a doggone good friend for any one. Just a plain dog will do. A dog without pedigree, without price, without anything to boast of except that he is only a dog, with a dog's instincts, a dog's manners, a dog's sincerity, a dog's unwavering faith in and kindness to anyone who will be loyal and kind to him.

Just a plain dog. In other words, a mutt, a mongrel, yes, a cur, he will love his little master or his little mistress. Every boy and girl, at some time in life, is surely entitled to one plain, everyday, ordinary dog.

Who can remember when a man could have ham and eggs regularly and turned to quail on toast for variety?

When a man puts a mortgage on his house to buy an automobile he may not see it, but he is sure to feel it.

The business of making a failure of marriage will flourish less when men and women use their brains more than their tongues.

Compliments are so rare in the case of most persons that one can hardly be blamed for feeling a bit uppish over an occasional one.

One once heard a lot of talk about a schoolhouse on every hill-top, but now you see a filling station on every street corner.

The oldest voter among women may be over a hundred, and proud of it, but more of them would rather be regarded as over twenty-one.

A lot of folks would like to be aroused some morning by hearing the winter's supply of coal making music through the clute to the cellar.

It is said that some big coal associations are considering a reduction in prices, but they do not intend to be precipitate about it.

It may be that one of the reasons for lack of political enthusiasm this year is that most of the post offices are under civil service regulations.

Many a man in trying to put his best foot forward gets it into his mouth.

A matrimonial race is one in which two win, but one or both may they had lost.

A 54-cent dollar is probably as good as any to persons to whom its only use is to be spent.

A married man should not need to go downtown to talk politics—he should get that at home abundantly.

To Save The Redwoods

By Frederic J. Haskin

SAN FRANCISCO, CALIF., Dec. 2.—Save the Redwoods before it is too late! is now the popular cry in California. The whole state is up in arms over the wholesale destruction of these oldest and rarest trees which are going on. If you are a loyal Californian—if you were born there, or if your loyalty is based merely on a two weeks' visit which you have never been able to forget, or let your friends forget—join this "Save the Redwoods" campaign, and send an angry protest to your congressman.

Whether you have been to California or not, you have heard of its redwoods, its monster trees, which are the oldest living things in the world. Those of the Serran are already well known. In the Calaveras grove at Yosemite, in the Sequoia National Park, and in the General Grant National Park, the giant trees are safe for generations to come. But the beautiful redwoods of the coast, smaller of girth but taller even than their Sierra cousins, are cutting without protection.

Through the loss of some of the finest groves of the coast redwoods the state of California built its coast highway—one of the most glorious highways ever conceived by man. For several miles you bowl along under a giant sequoia archway so old and stately that it makes the motor achievements of the 20th century appear smart but insignificant. Yet the very building of this road which has made it possible for motorists to visit the redwoods, has resulted in their destruction. For a good road and motor trucks have made the timber marketable, and the owners of the trees have had no time in converting them into lumber.

Today everyone who travels over this highway is heart sick at the thought of the certain ruin that awaits the entire stand of redwoods unless sufficient funds are raised to buy the timber lands along the road and turn them into a state or national park.

Only a Few Left

"Not such a great deal is left to be saved," explained the Secretary of the Redwoods League, in discussing its campaign. "It is not such a great task that faces us, and the calls are reducing it every day. One mill is working within a hundred feet of the state highway, in the very heart of one of the most beautiful remaining groves. Signs along the road warn the motorist to beware of falling trees."

There are only a few miles of redwoods along the state highway, not more than a dozen at most," he continued, hunting through his desk for a map that would show their exact location. "You go along for some distance on a beautiful road, shaded by oak and pine trees. Then, all at once, the road dips sharply into the shade of tremendous trees that rise in straight columns 200 feet or more in the air. They are not like the clumsy giants of the Sierras, but graceful and beautifully proportioned."

"The contrast between one of these groves and the stretches of desolation where the lumbermen have been at work is terrible. The world must have lumber, no doubt, and the redwoods must furnish their share, but there are thousands of redwoods elsewhere in the state that may be used for this purpose. To destroy the redwoods along the highway is simply a monstrous piece of vandalism that it will take 10 centuries to make amends for."

Perhaps it is the ancient tree-trunk shipper in every man that makes him love the redwoods. There seems to be something kindly as well as awe-inspiring about them, as if, having watched man for centuries, they had nothing but pity left for him.

The sequoias at one time covered almost the entire northern hemisphere, according to scientists, who have unearthed their fossil remains in Europe, Siberia, Alaska and Canada. And of all this tremendous stretch of sequoia forest that once encircled the world

The Parks

The General Grant National Park, which is sometimes mistaken for the Sequoia National Park because it is separated from it only by six miles of mountain and forest, was created merely for the protection of one giant sequoia, the General Grant Tree, 264 feet high and 35 feet in diameter. Next to General Grant is his distinguished neighbor, George Washington, who is only 9 feet less in height and 4 feet less in diameter.

It is a matter of record that 3,600 fence posts sufficient to build a 3600 fence around eight or nine thousand acres of land, were once made from one of these giant trees, and that was merely the first step, in disposing of its great carcass. Next, 450,000 shingles—enough to cover the roofs of 50 or 60 houses—were taken from its trunk. This left hundreds of cords of firewood which had to be hauled to a saw mill where it was used to haul it down from the mountains.

With trees of minor but still tremendous capacity in their possession, the owners of the redwood tracts along the coast highway cannot be blamed for attempting to realize on the value of their timber lands. At present, according to the secretary of the Redwoods League, much of the cutting has been held up by options secured in 1919 for the price of $20,000. This money was provided by Humboldt county in California, which contributed $50,000, and by two private citizens, William Kent and Stephen Malher who gave $15,000 each. Unfortunately, however, the options will soon expire and the coast redwoods will be wholly unprotected—unless the United States government or the state of California chooses to come to their rescue and purchase them for one more national park.

WHO'S WHO In The Days News

REAR ADMIRAL E. R. STITT

Rear Admiral Edward Richard Stitt, who has been appointed surgeon general of the U. S. navy, is well qualified by experience and education for the work. He was chosen to succeed Rear Admiral W. C. Brastford, who was on the retired list.

Admiral Stitt has been head of the naval medical school in Washington for several years. He graduated from the London school of tropical medicine in 1895 with distinction and continued his studies in Egypt and the Orient. He later served in the naval hospital in the Philippines. He has been known internationally as an authority on tropical medicine.

He was one of the naval physicians called into consultation by Admiral Cary T. Grayson, President Wilson's personal physician, when the president was stricken.

New-York-Day-By-Day

BY O. G. MERTTIE

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—It was the first dinner hour. Chairs were drawn up to a table and chairs. All were in immaculate dinner dress and their expressions bespoke intelligence of a high order. The conversation drifted to literature. Some person spoke of Ivan Muscovitch, the great Russian realist.

"A great writer who has never been read according to his true worth," said the speaker. All heads nodded in approval. Scouting sympathy continued to sound the praises of the mighty Muscovitch. "Others," he said, "have only praised the surface of life—but Muscovitch has gone to the heart of things—shown us our emotions and revealed the things we knew were true, yet which we feared to look upon."

"I was wondering the other day," said one of the group—a magazine writer—"the age of Muscovitch. A man to have written with his understanding must have lived a number of years."

"Muscovitch," said his admirer, "will be 50 years old the third day of December, and while that subject is up I think it is fitting that we who know of his great work shall in some way commemorate the auspicious day, let it be known as Ivan Muscovitch Day, and let the most of American letters get together and pay him tribute."

No one dissent. All agreed that it would be a splendid thing to do. A temporary chairman—the novelist who brought up his name and advised him so—was appointed. Later on a permanent organization was formed.

That was, however, as far as it went. The story has just looked out and I have the word of the responsible practical joker that it is all true. There is no Ivan Muscovitch so far as he knows. The writer manufactured his name on the spur of the moment to test his theory that among a group of writers none will ever admit they have not heard of any writer. However, most any one of the crowd will now admit, if asked, that he never heard of Ivan Muscovitch. And he will throw in a couple of blues to boot.

There is an Indiana novelist who has a home on the seashore in the East. He also has a magnificent yacht. This summer he had as house guests a man and wife from the middle west.

November Fables

There is no sunlight in the hills today. Low hung the mist and changeable the morning. Between the woods, vague are the trees, and gray, dim seashells blown by blown vapors, floating. Beneath the threat of the impending sky. Their fold close gathered and their quick whisks thrashing. Nor loathe to leave, the geese go honking by. Straight in their course, nor fluttering nor blundering.

The river's mill, has ceased. Its laughter stilled. In melancholy now its pathway taking. Rolls over on, forbidding mien and cold. Through barren fields so sweet and spangled dill. But short days past, the anxious stream, forsaking. A world grown gray, and weary, dull and old.

NO ACTION IS TAKEN ON HOSPITAL ADDITION ANOTHER MEETING TO BE HELD TUESDAY NIGHT

Considerable "newspaper" marked the opinion of the project was started the expense would not stop at the original figure. But would, in the purpose of providing funds for the hospital, which was the big business before the city at its regular meeting Wednesday night.

Many prominent citizens were present and participated in the discussion, and while strong sentiment was manifested in favor of the vital necessity for providing additional hospital facilities, considerable opposition developed to the plan proposed, some objecting to the present site, while others disapproved the project of spending such a large sum of money in erecting additions to the present hospital and instead advocated the construction of a new and adequate institution which would be a credit to the city and take care of the community in the future.

The merits of the proposition were discussed from all angles, but no definite action was taken, the legislative action not even being brought to a vote before the long debate was concluded, and an adjournment taken until next Tuesday night when the question will be given another whirl before an open meeting of council to which session all interested persons have been invited to attend. It is hoped to crystallize opinions of all concerned on some definite plan at this meeting.

It was generally agreed by all present that there is urgent need of increased hospital facilities in this city and it was stressed by the backers of the plan that it was not a matter of dollars and cents, but rather a conservation of humanity. It was stated that the expense of building the additions would not increase taxes, but that the increased revenue derived from more rooms would be more than sufficient to retire the bonds as they become due, pointing to the $10,000 surplus earnings now in the hospital fund produced during the last year under the efficient management of Safety Director St. Straus as an example of what could be done with an institution of adequate facilities.

Bellevue Skelton advised that council had authority to lease the lands and still be within its limitations of bond issues for any purpose for any one year, but he stated that if the earnings of the hospital were not sufficient to pay operating expenses and bonded indebtedness the difference would, of a necessity, have to be made up by taxation.

George D. Selby declared he was in favor of making the proposed improvements, asserting that after an investigation of the situation as a member of the Chamber of Commerce hospital committee, he was advocating the proposition because he had faith in it. He said that his investigation had disclosed that not 50 percent of the citizens of the city were properly situated to care for their sick, and declared that the present situation was an emergency which must be met. He declared that the expense was trifling when it came to a matter of conserving humanity and pointed to the high mortality rate of infants here because of the lack of hospital facilities. He urged the making of the proposed improvements at an early date to take care of the present situation and then indicated that he would lend his assistance in erecting a bigger and better institution in the future.

Mr. Selby said he was cranking on better hospital facilities for Portsmouth, saying that he hoped to see a big fine hospital built here some day, but was of the opinion the people can afford to wait until a more opportune time to launch such a big project.

Drs. W. A. Quinn, Gilbert Middleton, Walter J. S. Hardin, J. W. Fitch and other physicians, urged council to put the proposition through declaring that the city hospital is a proper and necessary utility and that increased facilities are needed to conserve life and health.

It was brought out during the discussion that none of the doctors present had been invited to take their patients to the Schirrmann private hospital and the opinion was given that the institution was closed to patients for operations except those performed by the proprietor.

Mayor W. N. Gableman said the question involved was whether the hospital would be self-supporting, in event the additions are made, giving it as his opinion it would be a bad city proposition otherwise. Personally, he declared he was opposed to the city erecting the hospital but asserted he would not stand in the way of the improvement if it was abandoned and it was deemed best.

Safety Director St. Straus was in favor of proceeding with the improvement. He pointed to the crowded condition of the hospital, saying that they were compelled to turn many patients away and these go to other clinics, he said. He called attention to the many charity patients taken care of during the last year, the sum of $200,000 spent on permanent improvements, and the substantial balance on hand as evidence that the institution can be run on a self-supporting basis.

Robert G. Hayan, member of the City Planning Board, entered a protest against the proposition, declaring that council should be provided by the matter, saying that he appraised what it means to shift around to make both ends meet. He said Mayor Gableman seemed the keynote in declaring that the city ought not to be in the hospital business and he further asserted that it was not incumbent upon the city to provide hospital facilities for those able to pay. He stated that now is an inappropriate time to do both ends and

CHRIS HEER'S CAR STOLEN; IS RECOVERED IN IRONTON

Chris Heer, general manager of the Bellville Engine company, was down to Blodgett M. E. church, Fifth and Washington streets at 7:30 Wednesday night, after being in church five minutes he remembered he did not lock his machine.

When he returned to lock it the car was missing. It had been stolen. The police were notified and they in turn gave a description of the seven passenger Buick to all nearby cities.

An hour later word came from Ironton that two men and a Buick were being held there. The machine proved to be Mr. Heer's and he left today for Ironton to recover his seven passenger Buick and Sheriff Hutchison and Officer Kendall following last week and which was recovered last week and which was held at the police station and went to Hang Rock bridge. They had just established themselves in a position to watch the road when a car drove in sight. Sheriff Hutchison stopped the car and the driver, who did not put down his brake until he saw the sheriff's gun, which was about the same time Officer Kendall mounted the running board and covered the pair with his police about the theft of the machine.

The men gave their names as Scott Nelson of Columbus and George Downing of Cincinnati. When the officers searched the men they found no guns, each man had a pocketful of cash, revolver cartridges and one of them had a new holster which had recently been used a short time, leaving said the gun that went with the holster had been pawned in Cincinnati but they could not account for the cartridges. They were lodged in the county jail and Sheriff Hutchison took charge of the automobile, awaiting its owner from Portsmouth.

That the recovery of Mrs. Charles Solomon, who was shot down Tuesday night in her apartment at the Star hotel by John B. Wood, a prominent contractor, who a short time later took his own life, is apparently certain, was announced yesterday afternoon by Dr. A. K. Kesler, of Kesler-Hatfield hospital.

The victim of the would-be assassin was taken to the operating table yesterday morning after she had recovered sufficiently from the shock of the attack to undergo this ordeal. The surgeons found that none of the three bullets which struck her had touched a vital spot, Dr. Kesler said. The bullet which was lodged in her shoulder had not, as was thought, ranged through the body, but had ranged upward through the fleshy part of the arm, and the bullet which struck near the hip ranged down instead of penetrating as had been feared, the abdominal cavity. The third bullet went through the left arm.

Last night authorities at the hospital said that Mrs. Solomon's condition continued favorable.

Mrs. Charles Solomon, formerly residing on Eleventh street, this city, J. H. Goodpastor, of Walter street, stated Thursday that he knew Mrs. Solomon, but that she was not a relative.

The Ladies Aid Society of Franklin Avenue Methodist church will serve a turkey dinner at the church this (Thursday) evening, from 5 until 8 o'clock. The good women promise one of the finest dinners of the year, and to doubt a large crowd will be present. The women have secured several fat turkeys and will not only serve bountifully of this delicious meat, but there will be cranberries and all the trimmings, with ice cream and pie at the close.

Annette Bierley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bierley, of 1400 Eleventh street, who has been ill with influenza and pleurisy for four weeks, is improving.

Henry Chase, who has been ill for the past ten days at his home, 1003 Washington street, is slightly improved.

Hold Class Meeting
The Ladies Aid Society of the First Christian church will hold their regular monthly class meeting at the church this evening.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., December 2.—That the recovery of Mrs. Charles Solomon, who was shot down Tuesday night in her apartment at the Star hotel by John B. Wood, a prominent contractor, who a short time later took his own life, is apparently certain, was announced yesterday afternoon by Dr. A. K. Kesler, of Kesler-Hatfield hospital.

The victim of the would-be assassin was taken to the operating table yesterday morning after she had recovered sufficiently from the shock of the attack to undergo this ordeal. The surgeons found that none of the three bullets which struck her had touched a vital spot, Dr. Kesler said. The bullet which was lodged in her shoulder had not, as was thought, ranged through the body, but had ranged upward through the fleshy part of the arm, and the bullet which struck near the hip ranged down instead of penetrating as had been feared, the abdominal cavity. The third bullet went through the left arm.

Last night authorities at the hospital said that Mrs. Solomon's condition continued favorable.

Mrs. Charles Solomon, formerly residing on Eleventh street, this city, J. H. Goodpastor, of Walter street, stated Thursday that he knew Mrs. Solomon, but that she was not a relative.
